

Workbench Power

Willie Elizardo of Zeeland, Michigan, was having problems with the power strip on his bench always getting knocked around. He found the perfect solution while putting up the Christmas lights: An outdoor power bank with a stake that fits the dog holes of his bench.